HOMECOMING ILLNESS

MISSOULA, Mont.--

Arnold S. Gillette and his wife Josephine have returned to Iowa City, Iowa, after an unexpectedly prolonged stay in Missoula.

Gillette, who was one of four University of Montana alumni receiving UM Alumni Association Distinguished Service Awards during UM Homecoming Oct. 16-18, suffered a heart attack Oct. 17 and spent three weeks at St. Patrick Hospital recovering from the illness.

Now director of the University of Iowa Theater, Department of Speech and Drama, Gillette received his Bachelor of Arts degree at the University of Montana in 1928 and he went on to Yale University, New Haven, Conn., where he was awarded the Master of Fine Arts degree in 1931. He was a UM track star.
